Dear STA Families,

We thank you all for your continued patience as we move through the school year releasing monthly calendars in stages. We understand the need to think ahead and we value everyone's time.

Please note that our expectations of continuing our on-campus educational experience remain in place. Our faculty and staff are committed to providing robust, challenging opportunities for our students and we feel this is best accomplished in person. Although our teachers have been able to accommodate absences as they come, including synchronous and asynchronous learning, please know that remote options are only granted in special circumstances.

We feel both blessed and thankful that thus far our community has remained healthy. That said, we are attentive and sensitive to the fact that colder temperatures and the holiday season could bring challenges.

We remind everyone to please be diligent in tracking health symptoms and contact/connections. This is our best way to keep our entire community safe as we look to end the second quarter as we did the first.
